DUVALL HOMES

Presented by
Reames Employee Benefits Solutions

Welcome to Duvall Homes' third annual Inspiration Gala - an evening of celebration as Duvall Homes recognizes you and the importance of your interest, your involvement and your investment in empowering people in our community living with developmental disabilities. Your attendance here tonight impacts the lives of so many who need your help. You inspire us with your generosity and compassion, and we are deeply grateful. We're so glad you're in!

Special Thanks

Tonight we give special thanks to all those who helped Duvall Homes weather the effects of Hurricane Irma. Stories of personal sacrifice and compassion abound and we are grateful for the work that has been done in the face of great challenge and hardship.

The real heroes, of course, are the dedicated front-line staff and caregivers, and the facilities crew at Duvall, who helped keep our residents protected during the storm – and now through the aftermath. Thankfully, through their diligence and dedication, all are safe, sound and secure.

A week-long delay in power restoration at our main campus caused administrative staff, many of whom were without power at home, to work from remote areas, like coffee shops, city buildings and other WiFi-available locations.

Others, including community members and neighbors, helped clear debris and reposition supplies and generators for us. Special thanks to DaVita Labs who took in sixty of our staff and residents to provide a cool environment during one of the days before power was back up. The cafeteria in their newest building provided a haven, a comfortable respite space and the most gracious hospitality.

The Show Must Go On

Tonight we are proud to present our 2017 Inspiration Gala in spite of Irma's fury. We are here, we are safe and we are happy to be with you. Somewhat wobbly, but still on track, we thank you for your patience for any program bumps or unplanned hiccups that may occur. Based on your own hurricane experience, we know you will understand that most of our final preparations were severely interrupted. Yet, the show must go on... and we are honored to have you with us!

Thank you for setting aside the likely tasks you still have ahead in the continuing storm cleanup. The kindness you have shown in taking time out from any recovery efforts is deeply appreciated. We hope you have a wonderful evening!

Duvall Homes has been a landmark fixture in Volusia County for decades. Through its history, it has helped countless numbers of people with developmental disabilities find a voice...a sense of self... a home.

Despite the challenges of Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Down syndrome and a myriad of other disabilities, friendships blossom at Duvall Homes, new self-care and daily-living skills are mastered and residents work within their own capacity to meet their own personal goals every day.

As people with disabilities are becoming recognized for who they are – unique and valued for their individuality with special contributions to make to society – Duvall Homes is at the forefront. We are committed to maintaining an organization characterized by acceptance and welcome for all, where each individual is seen as exceptional, entitled to personal growth and development and self-determination.

The accomplishments of Duvall Homes are reflected in the strength of our programs, in the commitment of our dedicated donors and staff...but most importantly, in the personal success stories of each of our residents.

Art Gallery & Gala Gift Shop

Original & Limited Edition Items

What is the inspiration behind this year's Gala Art Gallery?

Based on its success in 2015 and 2016, our 2017 Art Gallery is a true testament to the circle of inspiration and how it spreads. Now, in its third Gala Exhibition, Art for Everyone showcases the talents of the people served by Duvall Homes. In a variety of presentations, inspired by global and local events, Duvall artists have created a new body of work, both individually and collaboratively. New works have been inspired by observing the work done by professional painters and photographers and also by repurposing older work to create something new for 2017.

What is the creative process and how does STEM play a roll in the art?

The art in this year's exhibition is just a sampling of how the Opportunities Enrichment Center at Duvall Homes incorporates the cultural arts into its regular curriculum. Selected works of art are based in STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering & Math) subject matters. Using books, personal iPads, video and instruction, the epic solar eclipse that passed over the U.S. this past August, preceded by eagle nesting at Lake Woodruff National Wildlife Refuge just five minutes from Duvall's Glenwood campus are only two of many events studied. With only modified assistance when needed, Duvall artists incorporated designs, figures and specifically sized shapes to fit canvases of all measurements, creating an impressive collection of masterpieces worthy of inspiring every individual privileged to view them. Mediums of all types were used from pastels, acrylics, charcoal, chalk and ink, to rocks, twigs and recycled wood.

What exclusive limited edition art items will debut tonight?

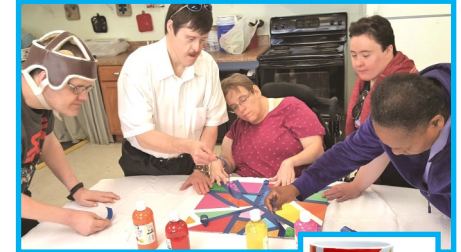

All works of art are a form of communication and self-expression, and this is especially true for many of the Duvall artists with little or no verbal capability. While the Gallery has unveiled an abundance of artistic talent, only a select few pieces have been reproduced as limited edition keepsakes. We hope you will add to your 2015-2016 collection by donating toward the new pieces offered tonight.

2017 Inspiration Award

Duvall was fortunate to have Lauren Baucum, a Sophomore Guitar Major from Stetson University's School of Music reach out to us last spring to ask if we were interested in having students perform for our residents. What followed was a series of performances by a truly inspiring group of 12 music majors, appropriately named Instruments of Healing.

Playing keyboards, string and wind instruments, each visit they entertained a large group that filled our chapel. Their heart-felt enthusiasm was reciprocated as residents joined in and sang along. Gala guests have enjoyed the sounds of Instruments of Healing during tonight's reception, and will be awed by a special performance toward the end of our program.

Dear Lauren and Members of Instruments of Healing, we thank you all from the bottom of our hearts for sharing your talents and compassion with us!
